Things to fix.

Hi George,

The site looks great, but there are a couple of things that I have noticed that need fixing.

First is the email lessons. The links on the email do not work properly. They send me to an error page saying "OOPS!! Page can not be displayed" which also suggests that the files may not have been properly added to the website.

The second is the Free Drum lessons section. When I click on the link for a video the selected video does not load into the video player section. Internet explorer indicates an error on line: 393; Char:5; Error:'this.element' is null or not an object.

The third is that most of the forum's buttons are not showing. They are only appearing as missing pictures.
